

To Lady Douglas
Dear Madam.

We, the Congregation of the Church of our Lord, with mingled feelings of thankfulness and sorrow, address to you a few words on the death of our dear and honoured friend your husband Sir James Douglas, now gone to his rest, full of years and honour.

We know and remember how for the space of more than twenty years he and his family have worshipped in the Congregation first formed by his pious care, in a land where heathen rites only were known before; how his voice ever led us in our common worship, lifted up with reverence and devotion to the God in whose fear he daily walked, and how in adversity and trial he still went in, and out, amongst us, giving us land on which to build our church, and liberally and constantly contributing of his substance, to all our need in the worship of our God.

His life was a daily preparation for the great change, Relying ever on his Redeemer's merits he has finished his course: he has kept the faith. And now dear Lady - Douglas that his work is done, and he rests from his labours, we must not sorrow as those that have no hope; but rather praise God, that one whom a whole people delighted delighted to honour, died in the Communion of the Church nourished on the bread of Life on which, we in the same Christian hope still feed.

We pray that our gracious and heavenly Father, through the Saviour's grace, may abundantly bless, and comfort, you and your daughters; and that your beloved son Mr Douglas, may long be spared to us, to tread in the steps of his honoured father, the stay of your age, and both in his public, and private capacity, an example, and a blessing to the Community in which he dwells.
