Gentlemen:-

Your letter of September 8th is received and, as requested, I am enclosing application forms for the renewal of a Fireworks Magazine Licence. These forms have been completed and merely require the signature of Yee Lun Ark Kee Limited.

We have repeatedly written to this Company, forwarding forms of application and sent them completed forms, requesting their signature, but we have received no reply to our letters.

I assume that Yee Lun Ark Kee Limited were not storing fireworks until the present time. If this is so, the fee for the remainder of 1947 will be $1.00. I would advise that the fee has been increased to $2.00 for the full calendar year.

Yours very truly,

Chief Inspector of Explosives.

Dear Sir:

On February 21st I forwarded to you forms on which to make application for renewal of your magazine licence which covers the storage of fireworks during the calendar year.

If you are storing fireworks in any quantity it is absolutely necessary that you maintain a magazine licence. Our Inspector reports that your magazine was in good condition with a very small stock of fireworks stored therein. He also stated that it was your intention to get in a stock when the season came around. If you intend to store fireworks during the year 1947 kindly advise or your file will be closed in this office. I shall expect a reply to this letter by return mail.

Yours very truly,

Chief Inspector of Explosives.
